

More than a 100
green Cultural dreams

CLIMATE CHANGE IS NOT A GAME ...

... but this new serious game helps you to green your cultural ecosystem

Ecological transformation is urgent. Scientific evidence provides humanity with a last window for change of around ten years. The cultural sectors therefore quickly have to become greener. Complex procedures and technological orientation consume a lot of time and resources.

The serious game „More than a 100 green cultural dreams“ developed by Sylvia Amann – inforelais, provides cultural, city and regional stakeholders with a first action plan and orientation for green transformation. This takes around half a day of playing with a strategy development expert.

The cooperative game focuses on many actions – small and big – also with less budgetary requirements. It reflects the cultural opportunities of the required transformations.

Interested to play or to test?

Contact: Sylvia Amann, office@inforelais.org
We offer demonstration sessions online!